In India, an average of 87 rape cases are reported daily

- India is ranked as the most dangerous country for women
- In 2019, 32,033 rape cases were registered in India
- In 2019, Uttar Pradesh recorded a total of 59,835 cases of violence against women.
- Conviction rate of rape cases: 27.8%
- Specifically, dalit (untouchables) women in India face higher risk of gender and caste based violence
- At least 10 Dalit women are raped every day

Police faces backlash from the public

- It is difficult for a women to file a complaint in India, for Dalit (untouchable) women it is much harder.
- Police are slow to register complaints
- In the case of Dalit women investigations are delayed
- Sometimes, police are involved in crime against Dalit (untouchable) women

Justice for Hathras victim

A 19 year old girl from Hathras village in India was brutally assaulted by four men, succumbed to injuries in Delhi's Safdarjang. Her body was cremated by the police in a horrifying video which shows the mother of the poor girl crying and begging for a chance to take her daughter home. Police barricaded the family inside their home and burnt the body without letting anybody know.

Why was <https://justiceforhathrasvictim.carrd.co/> created?

The website was created to hold protests against the recent gang rape and murder case in India.

On 14 September 2020, a 19 year old was raped in Hathras (Uttar Pradesh), India.

The victim passed away two weeks after the incident.

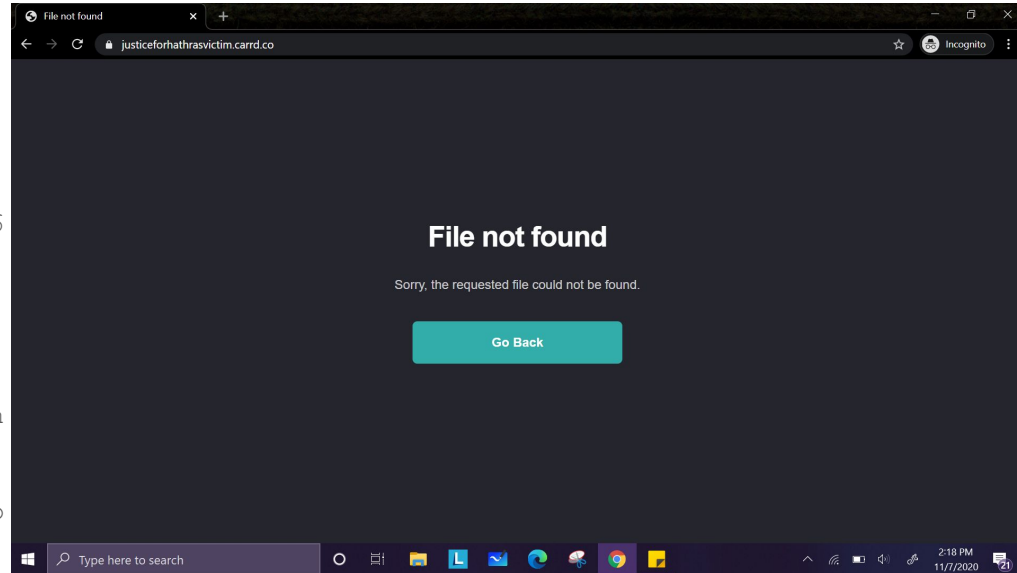

The victim was cremated on 29 September 2020 by the Uttar Pradesh Police (India) without the consent or knowledge of the victim's family.

Rioters were specifically asked to not put vaseline, mineral oil or any oil-based sunscreen that could trap the chemicals on their skin. They were also asked not to wear branded clothes that could aid police in identifying them. Black, loose clothes were recommended that would make it difficult for the police to recognise them.

OpIndia article associates the Carrd website to Amnesty International

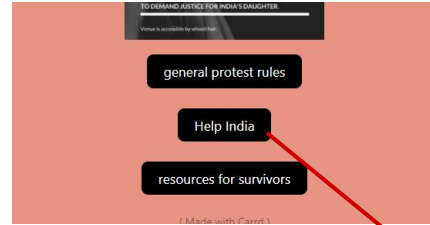

'Justice for Hathras' website springs up overnight

A day after the Hathras victim breathed her last, a website called 'Justice for Hathras' was created and thousands of people were linked to the website through fake IDs. According to the probe, the website had received funding from Amnesty International, Fundamentalist organisations based out of Islamic Countries. The objective of the website was to create a wedge between the majority community in the country and undermine the Yogi and Modi government in Uttar Pradesh and India respectively. Objectionable content pertaining to inciting riots and Amnesty International is a global movement of more than 7 million people who take injustice personally. We are campaigning for a world where human rights are enjoyed by all.

We are funded by members and people like you. We are independent of any political ideology, economic interest or religion. No government is beyond scrutiny. No situation is beyond hope.

Few would have predicted when we started that torturers would become international outlaws. That most countries would abolish the death penalty. And seemingly untouchable dictators would be made to answer for their crimes.

How was the website taken down?

UP Police files an FIR for conspiring to instigate riots in the state

After it came to light that a global conspiracy is being hatched to incite riots in Uttar Pradesh under the pretext of carrying out protests over Hathras incident, the UP Police has registered a case of conspiracy to stoke riots in Hathras.

Considers the website creation to be a global conspiracy

Justice for Hathras victim Carrd website

Hours after the probe was initiated, the website was shut down suddenly. The Carrd website was created as a free one-page landing website on the host, carrd.co. The website became popular in America during the Black Lives Matter protests earlier this year. Since the website did not have any registered domain, it is little difficult to track it down.

The OpIndia article does not mention that the website was taken down by the government, an FIR was lodged against an unidentified person, this could be the reason for the take down.
